

Hewlett-Packard Internship Program

Are you looking for a way to get hands on experience in your area of interest? If so, HP offers a variety of internship programs that will fit the bill. If you are qualified, these programs can offer you hands on practical development that complements your school's program. You'll have the opportunity to work with HP technologies and to be a part of our unique and fun work environment and culture. HP interns are given an appropriate level of challenge, a variety of work (often in project teams), coaching and support to contribute within a dynamic, professional and international work environment. To apply, either interview on campus (check with your placement office or attend your campus career fairs) or apply online via HP's job search tool.
