

Position: Auditors for the Air Force Audit Agency (AFAA), Albuquerque, NM

We are filling this position through direct hire authority, so there is no formal USA Jobs Vacancy Announcement. However, here is some information to help the applicants. Applicants can email me at pamela.olivarez@us.af.mil with their resume and transcript (with social security number and date of birth redacted) and I can forward the documents to our career field team for review.

The Air Force Audit Agency (AFAA) needs innovative and creative individuals who possess strong oral and written communicative skills. Our auditors are highly motivated, goal-oriented, self-starters who are not content sitting behind a desk. Rather, they spend considerable time with Air Force management interacting with the customer.

AFAA auditors have the ability to identify and understand critical issues and provide alternatives that achieve a successful conclusion. You will be continually challenged in providing a variety of audit services for Air Force management.

Applicants must:

- Be a U.S. citizen.
- Be able to obtain and maintain a Department of Defense security clearance.
- Have an undergraduate degree in accounting or a degree in a related field that includes or was supplemented by either, 24 semester hours in accounting (this may include up to 6 semester hours in business law). We can consider applicants who will meet these requirements by December 2017.

Without previous audit experience, new auditors generally start at the GS7 level, with non-competitive promotion opportunities to GS-12 with satisfactory progression through our training program.

Deadline: December 15, 2017
