NMHU Science and Agriculture Summer Experience (SASE) Program Expectations

In order for you to receive the maximum benefit from the “2013 Science and Agriculture Summer Experience” (SASE) project, our expectations are that you will actively participate in all academic classes, labs, field trips, and workshops. In addition, you are expected to be prepared for every class, to complete assignments on time, and to keep scheduled appointments with SASE faculty and staff. There will be some assignments over the weekends. Participants will be expected to work over the weekends to complete required tasks.

If selected, it is important that you make a commitment to take advantage of the research opportunities available to you through the program. Therefore, we request that 2013 SASE candidates sign the following program commitment statement.

Program Commitment Statement

If selected for the 2013 Science and Agriculture Summer Experience (SASE) Project, I am prepared to participate in all program activities. I am aware that the 2013 SASE is a challenging research program and I am prepared to commit myself and my time to it. I also understand that receipt of the $300 stipend is conditioned on attendance and full participation including completion of in class and homework assignments.
