This collection comprises material on Fort Union National Monument, the Santa Fe Trail, the Santa Fe Trail Association, the Santa Fe National Historic Trail, and Corazon de los Caminos, a chapter of the Santa Fe Trail Association. Diana Stein, a well-known book dealer and the proprietor of Los Artesanos Bookstore in Las Vegas, New Mexico, collected it.

- The material on Fort Union National Monument dates from the 1950s, when the monument was established, through the 1990s. Ms. Stein assembled much of it during her years as a “Volunteer in the Park,” from the mid-1980s through the early 1990s. It contains much ephemeral material reflecting the early years of the monument.
- The material on the Santa Fe Trail consists of newspaper articles, information on trail-related activities in various communities along the trail, and brochures and pamphlets on trail history.
- The material on the Santa Fe Trail Association covers its founding and development from the mid-1980s. It is especially rich in information on the biennial symposia of the association.
- The material on the Santa Fe National Historic Trail encompasses its establishment by the federal government/National Park Service, including controversies surrounding its development.
- The material on Corazón de los Caminos, a chapter of the Santa Fe Trail Association, included a complete run of the newsletter of the chapter and papers concerning the founding of the chapter.
